

Animal Magnetism BioMorph App

In the first screen, the user is asked to select a desired physical attribute or ability. Once chosen, the next screen gives a refinement option listing animals with that ability as the ability can come in a variety of forms. Once the animal is selected, the app searches for the animal's DNA stored in a DNA database and the user's DNA biochip which was implanted at birth [per the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) act of 2084]. The following screen asks the user to transmit the specialized animal DNA. The last screen allows the user to finalize the transaction, decline or start over, including a warning.
